Description

The physical complex is located in the centre of Pereslav-Zales, between the earth ' s valleys and the Trubin River, and in the pace of accessibility from the heart of the city, the Save-Previewed Collection. The multi-coloured housewives in the former site of the factory are themselves jewellery and always attract tourists.

The history of this place is not as ancient as the history of the city, but in the nineteenth century there was a production of a Pavlovian factory on the edge and on the cloth. The complex has changed on several occasions in subsequent years. There were asbestos factories, film films and post-revolutionary informals, buttons and ridges.

It is possible to organize a cultural and tourist cluster with locations such as a restaurant (which can even be located on the inspection site of the former water tower, such as the seventh sky in Moscow), a hotel, a cinema, museums, restoration workshops, a handicrafts store, a cultural pavilion exhibition.

Of particular interest to investors interested in tourism development is the possibility of placing the Perslav Reserve Museum on the Territory.

Tours and art festivals are already under way. The buildings can see the elements of different times - the Pavlov factory 's colones, the 1916 melting of Mone, the aluminium and steel fields, the extraordinary doors of the Soviet period, the ferry hammer and the mufel kilns of the black cafeteria have remained until our days.

Another important success factor is the organization, in close proximity to the LIT plant complex, of the railway station, which is comfortable in linking Perslav Zaleski to Moscow. The tourist trains from the capital further improve the already good transport accessibility of the facility located in the immediate vicinity of the Moscow-Holmogora route.
